Instructions: Admitted international students who intend to enroll must certify that they have funds to cover their expenses while attending Emory University. This includes students who have been awarded fellowships, scholarships, or other university support. International students cannot be enrolled, and visa documents cannot be issued, until this form has been completed and submitted to Mathew A. Pinson, Interim Associate Dean of Admissions and Financial Aid, Candler School of Theology, 1531 Dickey Drive, Atlanta, GA  30322.

Sources of Support for 2019-2020: As you calculate your support (page three) bear in mind that U.S. regulations severely restrict employment for individuals in Student (F) or Exchange Visitor (J) status. Therefore, you should not look to employment, either part-time during the academic year or full-time during the summer, as a means of support while at Emory University and Candler School of Theology. Under no circumstances are students permitted to work full-time during the academic year. F-2 dependent spouses and children are not permitted to work under any circumstances. J-2 Exchange Visitor dependents may apply for employment authorization from U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services. Funds from J-2 employment may not, however, be used to support the Exchange Visitor. The request for work authorization must document clearly the source and amount of support for the student and specifically state that the income derived from employment will not be used for the support of the J-1 Exchange Visitor. (It may, though, be used for professional development or travel.)
